The Democratic Ticket.

The ticket for the House of Delegates nominated by the Democracy of this county at their adjourned convention on Saturday is an improvement on some nominstions that the party has forced upon this community of late years. Nevertheless it is not such a ticket as Ohio county ought to send to represent her in the Legought to send to represent her in the Legislature. If the Republicans can put up a better one they will be justly entitled to the preference of the people at the polls next month.

ly laid out. The same was the case with on the cold, cold ground. Boring, too, who would give his head for a nomination, was paid off for all his patient and pertinacious services these many years back with 809 votes.

After this sanguinary business had been concluded an attempt was made to designate a candidate for Senator. As usual the Prosecuting Attorney desired to deal the cards. He is as handy a man in that line as can be found in this town. The Convention, however, thought he had dealt the cards sufficiently in the matter of delegates to Ellenboro a few months ago, and were not disposed to see the operation repeated on Saturday. So they did not instruct the conferees to vote for the honorable Mayor for Senator, but left the way open for our distinguished friend -the man who "got his name from Old Hickory"-and all other aspirants.

The latest phase of this peculiar institution is an effort to prevent its sale next month under the Deed of Trust. The Wellsburg Herald intimates that a movement to that end in the shape of an injunction was expected to come up in the Circuit Court there last Friday. That paper thinks that something should be done to prevent the sacrifice of a $350,000 railroad on account of a debt of $25,000. It is nevertheless quite probable that the road sold. This need not be a matter of regret will be if it only falls into the hands of somebody that will organize a syndicate

The reader can easily see from the contrast presented above between New York and West Virginia Democracy that the party is a party of "principles," and all kinds of principles at that. If Colonel Ben was up in New York stumping for the Democracy he would no doubt support their platform, but down in Wetzzl, where they want paper money by the bushel, the Charleston resolution is the sort of Democracy they relish and the sort that the Colonel doles out to them. Once getting into the tower, the flames ran up to and through the single entrance to the fifth story, then springing to the root timbers filled two great rooms, 450 by 90 feet, with a dense black smoke and flame.

While the flames were making such terrible headway, the operatives became fairly wild.
